A STRANGE END

Bath-Built Five-Master Is Now To Become A Lobster Pound

A dismantled hull, which once was the proud five-masted schooner Cora F. Cressey and later transformed into a gay night club in the prohibition era, Tuesday sailed northward in tow of a tug to end its days as a floating storage for lobsters in Medomak, Maine.

The schooner was built in Bath in 1902 at the cost of a quarter million dollars. She was remodeled later as a show boat. Stripped recently, the old boat was destined to be burned at sea until negotiations were made to use it for a lobster storage, alongside a Medomak wharf.

One dozens lagoons, ranging from a good-sized lake to shimmering mirror pools of quiet water, will decorate the New York World's Fair 1939.

Com'r Greenleaf Says He's Endeavoring To Get Best Men Available

Appointment of five new wardens and the reappointment of 20 others was made Tuesday by Commissioner Arthur R. Greenleaf of the Sea and Shore Fisheries Department, who said several more positions were yet to be filled.

"I am endeavoring," Greenleaf said, "to obtain the best men available from a long list of candidates."

The wardens are appointed to serve "at the pleasure of the commissioner."

The new appointees were Oscar Ford, Brookline; Robin J. Henderson, Cutler; Josiah F. Poland, Friendship; Harry E. Roberts, Kittery; Roy D. Stewart, Corea. Reappointed were those who served under former Commissioner Feyler. They were: Forest L. Albee, Bernard Everett L. Bryant, Charles S. Coughlin, Frank G. Halliwell, Thomas and Victor McKinney, all of Rockland; Edwin G. Doughty and Joseph R. Wallace, Portland; Walter E. Drinkwater, Spruce Head; Fred L. Duplsey, New Harbor; Warren A. Smalley, Tenants Harbor; Lester Stubbs, Hampden Highland; James W. Thurston, Orr's Island; Dwight Underwood, Saco, and Ernest V. Woodward, Jonesport.

Some Farm Figures

Sheep and Lambs Decreased Last Year, But Swine Increased

Maine's sheep and lambs decreased, while its swine, including hogs and pigs increased the last year, the State Department of Agriculture said Tuesday.

The number of sheep and lambs at the end of 1937 the department's records showed, totaled 47,000, compared to 49,000 the previous year.

"The number of hogs and pigs at the end of last year," the department said, "was estimated at 54,000, compared to 53,000 the preceding year."

Livestock prices in 1937 for all classes, except hogs, showed small increases, the department reported.

The number of chickens on farms at the start of this year totaled 1,615,000, or 12 percent less than the number at the beginning of 1937.

The department said the average price of eggs per dozen last year was 29.4 cents, compared to 30.2 cents in 1936. The average price of chickens was 18 cents a pound in 1937, compared to 18.7 the previous year.

Knox-Lincoln Farm Bureau

Agriculture

R. Bliss Fuller of Union, president of the Knox-Lincoln County Farm Bureau, will attend the annual meeting of the State Farm Bureau Federation held at Orono during Farm and Home Week. He is also planning to stay the remainder of the week taking in some of the dairy programs.

Many young plants are being started by the market gardeners in the county. Fred Heal of Camden has two houses full of young vegetable and flower seedlings. His new house is proving very satisfactory. Harold Allen of Hope has two houses full of vegetable plants. It won't be long now before early peas and corn will be started by many gardeners.

Eight thousand chicks and 1500 hens to feed is the problem of Edgar Smith of North Edgcomb, county poultry project leader. He is using over a carload of grain each month.

Farmers who are planning to use lime and superphosphate this spring on their land should get their orders in early as there is sure to be a great demand for these two products this year.

Roy Harwick of Boothbay has improved some of his pine growth by removing weed trees. Mr. Harwick has found good results in his early cut hay as he was all gone having July 9. The hay goes farther and the cows do better on it. Improving his pasture by seeding and top-dressing is another project which he will take up this year.

All roads next week lead to Farm and Home Week, Orono. Many farm people will attend from Knox and Lincoln counties.

With The Homes

Miss Edna M. Cobb, home management specialist, will attend the meeting in Orr's Corner on House-hold Buying Friday. Mrs. Lulu Light, Mrs. Dorothy Prock, and Mrs. Catherine Ludwig are on the dinner committee, and Mrs. Margaret Hutchins and Mrs. Lulu Miller are helpers.

Among those attending Farm and Home Week, March 28 to 31 as delegates are: Mrs. Lottie Butler, Boothbay, county foods project leader; Mrs. Lillian Fitch, Montsweag clothing leader; Mrs. Emelyn Bridges, chairman of Camden Farm Bureau; Mrs. Georgia Poole, chairman of Edgcomb Farm Bureau; Mrs. Mattie Gardner, chairman of Rockland Farm Bureau. Several are going from Hope Farm Bureau for one day. Attend Farm and Home Week. Programs may be obtained from the county office.

Real Sea Treasures

The sea has given forth many treasures in the past—exquisite pearls, precious coral, and chests of gold. It continues to contribute wealth, the most important being the great variety of sea foods brought in by the fishermen.

To cook these sea foods are the real treasures. During March home-makers in all parts of Maine are attending farm bureau and Extension Service meetings on fish cookery where they transform these products of the sea into such delicious dishes as codfish rarebit, fish pie, lobster newburg, or some other appetizing tidbit suggested by the fish cookery recipes. Since few foods can furnish the quality and variety of nutritional values that fishery products provide, these home-makers are not only pleasing appetites by cooking these foods, but they are making valuable contributions to the health and well being of the people who enjoy eating them.

Fish and shell fish are excellent sources of protein, are rich in vitamins, and contain minerals in quantity and variety. Deficiency diseases such as goiter, rickets, and anemia are much less prevalent in fishing communities where sea food constitutes a considerable proportion of the diet.

A menu consisting of fish pie, crisp green salad, dark bread, Dutch apple cake with lemon sauce, and coffee has been popular at recent meetings. Recipes for cooking fish dishes may be obtained without charge from the Extension Service office, Rockland, Maine.

4-H Club Notes

The Aford Lake 4-H club met with their assistant leader, Mrs. Lura Norwood, March 16. Miss Lucinda Rich, club agent, explained how the bean weevil lives and works to those taking the bean project. The sewing girls worked on color wheels and the cooking and house-keeping girls learned how to mix muffins properly. The club will have a meeting March 23 on cookie making.

The Quintuplets of Pleasantville learned about vegetable cookery at a recent meeting at the home of the leader, Mrs. Bertha Meserve. Under the direction of the club agent, Ethel Wotton prepared baked potato in the halfshell, Mary Faris prepared boiled, rice potatoes, Dorothy Simmons prepared buttered shredded cabbage, Dorothy Young prepared mashed carrots, and Evelyn Wotton prepared cubed turnip. Others methods of preparing vegetables were given to the girls too. Following the meeting, the girls gathered around the piano to sing club songs.

The Hope Hill Top juniors had their judging contest on muffins at their meeting March 18. Dorothy Baird won the green judging ribbon for getting the highest score. Miss Evelyn Plummer, assistant state club leader, taught the girls some new songs. Following the singing refreshments of sandwiches, cake, and hot cocoa were served.

Dorothy Keller, with Carolyn Andrews and Ariene Keller as models, gave a demonstration on Color and Its Use before about 50 people at the grange in West Rockport, March 14. The Singing Sewing club, of which these girls are members, with Mrs. Henry Keller, leader, have completed one more requirement—public demonstration—toward their national gold seal of achievement.

Maynard Waltz of Damariscotta, a former 4-H club member and now a senior at Colby College majoring in chemistry and physics, has just been elected to Phi Beta Kappa, an honorary fraternity.

The Bonnie Boosters of Burkettsville, with Mrs. Carolyn Leigher, leader, took up milk beverages at their last meeting. Grace Grinnell made cocoa syrup, Bernice Grinnell chocolate milk shake, and Virginia Luce made cocoa. Mildred Grinnell and Mabel made fudge for refreshments. Bernice Grinnell won a game on making the best menu from pictures of different foods given them from which to choose.

Rockland Lions

Learn That 2600 Persons Are Seeking Employment In This Area

John W. Trott, who recently assumed the management of the Maine State Employment service in this city, was guest speaker at the meeting of the Lions Club yesterday and explained to the members how applicants are registered through personal interviews and placed, when possible, strictly on the basis of qualification, the obvious object being the reduction of unemployment.

The group of interviews obtains all possible particulars of the applicant's work history, his task being of a really professional nature. The applicant is then listed for future employment, and classified as to his ability to do specific work. Then comes the selection of the man when an order comes—the fitting of a round peg into a round hole. Nobody is referred to anybody seeking workers, unless he meets the employer's needs. The service is not allowed to do otherwise.

Mr. Trott mentioned the interesting fact that there are more than 2600 applicants for work registered in the Rockland area, representing Knox, Lincoln and Waldo. If position could be found for all of them it would increase the buying capacity of the community.

The intricate problems of social service were discussed at some length in the open forum.

The 14 meetings which have ensued since the last attendance contest began brought forth the statement from Eugene E. Stoddard that 222 Self Starters had been registered, plus one new member counting five points. Ralph L. Smith, captain of the opposing team, was not ready to report for it until he obtained the returns from two meetings. The ballots will be locked up meanwhile.

J. F. Burgess and Samuel E. Norwood were appointed as entertainment committee for the month of April.

Final payment was made on the new sound system at the Community Building, sponsored by the Lions Club.

Sales Talk By Phone

Gov. Barrows, Exploiting Maine, To Be Heard In Florida Tonight

From his offices in the State House, Gov. Barrows will telephone a sales talk on Maine to Mayor Vernon Agos of St. Petersburg, Fla., tonight while 6000 persons in the Southern resort's outdoor auditorium "listen in." This will be a feature of the annual State of Maine Night festivities staged in honor of the 1300 Maine folks who are spending the winter at St. Petersburg.

The Maine Development Commission which arranged the Governor's participation said that he planned to discuss the coming summer season and would extend an invitation for all to visit this State.

At 9:15, Mayor Agos will phone the executive offices over a wire which will be connected with amplifiers in the auditorium. He will introduce Gov. Barrows who will speak eight minutes. Several Maine radio stations are expected to broadcast the talk.

State representative Oscar Maxwell of Orient, president of the Florida State of Maine Club said that this state would receive a lot of advertising as a result of the affair.

ROCKLAND OLD HOME WEEK

Chairman Brewer Gives a Hint As To Some Of the Attractions for June 29-July 5

The Old Home Week Committee, 20 strong, met at the Armory Tuesday night, to make preliminary arrangements for the greatest event ever to be held in Rockland. The program which has been arranged will please the young as well as the old, and everyone in general.

This program to date will give an idea as to what to tell your friends and relatives over the country, so that they will come and spend a week in Rockland.

The big feature will be the awarding of a Chevrolet sedan to some person who is lucky.

The first big feature of the week will be a giant mari-gras on Main street. The entire public dressed for the occasion, is invited to join the party. This will be a snappy event.

Merchants' Day will give the people in Rockland and Knox County the first opportunity to see a soap box derby on Park street, sponsored by a local garage and many merchants will have entries.

A gigantic display of fireworks has already been arranged.

Another great event will be sponsored by the Fire Department, which will give exhibitions of all kinds and will top it off with a Statewide firemen's muster on Tillson's avenue, July 4. This event will be the first in Rockland for years.

Other activities such as boat races to be held on by an expert, John Snow Jr., water events every day—baseball, drum corps, boxing exhibitions, street dancing, indoor dancing, band concerts every day and other events to be mentioned later.

The committee has promised the largest carnival ever to be presented in Rockland with many free outdoor exhibitions.

On the Fourth of July you will witness one of the largest parades ever to be held in this community.

Two warships will be in the harbor—visitations every day.

The committee would like all citizens of Rockland to join them in this gala event. Write to your friends and relatives as to what is going on in Rockland on the above dates.

The entire program on this affair will be announced as soon as possible. The entire proceeds of this affair will go for new equipment for our Fire Department to make our property safe and to meet all our emergencies. Austin P. Brewer, Publicity Committee.

ROCKLAND'S FINE RECORD

In Sale Of U. S. Savings Bonds—Surpassed Every Other Office In Maine

United States Savings Bonds totaling $1,957,975 were sold by Maine postoffice in the year ending Aug. 31, 1937. This total gives the State a per capita sale of $2.45.

Highest per capita figure in the first class postoffice was recorded at Freeport, with a sale of $12,967, or $13.33 per capita.

Largest total sales were recorded at the Portland office where bonds valued at $352,350 were disposed of by mail order and postoffice sales. Other leaders in the first class division were Rockland, $95,612.50; Bangor, $73,612; Augusta, $60,225; Lewiston, $42,350; Biddeford, $31,350; Auburn, $29,206 and Waterville $24,156.

"Local patrons will rejoice with us in the excellent record attained by the Rockland office in the sale of these bonds," said Postmaster E. C. Moran. In volume of sales we surpassed every office in the State except Portland and on per capita basis we ranked Portland.

Our sales per capita, $10.92, exceeded that of New York City office which was $4.72. Maine state wide per capita was $2.45.

"We trust our bond patrons may appreciate the advantage to our city of this form of advertising and continue to improve on their well doing."

Commenting on recent rumor that savings bonds were to be discontinued Secretary Morgenthau says:

"Saving Bonds were not designed to save the Government's current needs for funds. They were designed to furnish a type of Government security which would be attractive to any citizen desiring to lay aside funds for future use. They were particularly intended as a repository for savings in relatively small amounts. To safeguard them for that use the amount which any one individual might buy in any one calendar year was restricted to $10,000, maturity value. It was hoped thus to encourage more widespread of Government securities by citizens in all walks of life and by this means to stimulate interest in public affairs."

"The results have been very gratifying. More than a million and a quarter citizens now own Savings Bonds and a very large number are buying them regularly out of current savings. They are treasured possessions in more than a million American homes. They are the nucleus of funds for the education of children, for the purchase of homes, for rainy-day reserves and for old-age security."

"All these considerations will continue to have the same weight whatever may be the Government's needs for funds in the future, and whether there is a budgetary deficit for a budgetary surplus. In the case of budgetary surplus the funds obtained from the sale of Savings Bonds will be used to retire other forms of government obligations. I see no reason why their sale should ever be discontinued."

BUSTED DYNAMITE'S NOSE

Butch Wooster Did Quick Job Last Night—Favreau Outpoints Reynolds

The boxing show at the Potato Bowl last night was viewed by a capacity of about 1000 fans.

Interest centered on the main bout between Butch Wooster of Rockland and Dynamite Lucier of Burlington, Va. The man from the maple sugar State was taller and heavier than Butch, but with three seconds to go in the first round he was sprawling helplessly on the canvas.

The bell saved a knockout, but when the luckless Vermont boxer was dragged to his chair it was found that his nose was broken, and that he was in absolutely no condition to continue.

The first minute of the first round was uneventful, with both boys looking for an opening. Then Wooster let go with two hard rights, the second breaking Dynamite's nose in two places, and a technical knockout resulted when he was unable to come up for the second round. And so Butch added another victory to his long list before going to take part in the Portland Show tonight.

The fans viewed with equal interest the semi-final bout between Cracker Favreau of Rockland and Walter Reynolds of South Liberty. Cracker impressed everybody as the craftier boxer, and was generally conceded to have taken every round. Reynolds' best showing was in the second and third rounds, but Favreau's left fist was continually in his face. It was the old story of a fighter against a boxer, and Reynolds' ability to "take it" alone saved the day for him.

K. O. Briely took a decision over Johnny Boardman of Rockland in the top preliminary. The home boy was very aggressive while his strength lasted, but Briely was plainly the more polished boxer.

Pat Dion (now called the famous quintuplets) branded the K. O. sign on Charlie Cole of Belfast in the first round of a preliminary battle. In the curtain-raiser Ralph Skinner of Rockland has the better of Young Colson.

Johnny Smith and Leon Halstead alternated at the bell and as third man in the ring. The former had four of the bouts, and did a good job, being keen-eyed and agile. Halstead, as usual, was cooler than a cucumber.

It was announced by "Bangor Bill" that Jimmy De Capria of New York would appear in the main bout one week from last night, and would face that well known Bangor boxer Jerry Duprey. De Capria belongs in New York and is counted one of the world's best light heavyweight boxers. He was in Dynamite Lucier's corner last night, helping reassemble Dynamite's broken nose.

In a recent broadcast, Grover A. Whalen, president of the New York World's Fair 1939, asked the farmers of the nation to contribute directly to him any ideas which would make the exposition more valuable to the agriculturists. "What would you most enjoy seeing at the Fair; and how can the Fair help you market your products at fair prices?" he asked.

"Florida Merry-making" Takes Our Travelers To An Interesting Resort

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:— Sunday afternoon we left Mr. and Mrs. George Wood at Hotel Charlotte Harbor enjoying guests at archery practice. Northward we motored to Hotel Sarasota Terrace in time to witness exciting crowds leave the Boston Red Sox training camp, where, in the last scheduled game, Jimmie Fox showed the Cincinnati Reds how to hit a home run. A day later we sat on the benches and listened to Joe Cronin direct the plays.

Nestled up to the white-painted board fence, which holds the secrets of baseball, is another winter home. From our windows we can see the famous Sarasota trailer village, with its colored traveling houses set at regular intervals from the many roads, shaded by Florida pines. It is said that every State in the Union is represented in the design.

As we entered the great circus grounds, the winter home of Ringling Brothers, combined with Barnum and Bailey, all workmen were busy painting the family conveyances silver and bright red. There the horses, ponies, elephants, lions, giraffes, and monkeys practice daily their parts in the ever popular show.

One day from Five Points to Municipal Pier we walked. In the small boat-season-sat two men just back from a fishing trip. "Tucker's Tackle Takes 'Em" attracted all who had fish to be weighed, so with the sightseers. That evening we saw a 173-pound sea bass hanging from a Tucker's street tackle. We caught a new thrill, because we had witnessed the fish being hauled in to the wall by a Ford truck.

To persons interested in Conchology the Gulf of Mexico is kind. The beaches have been our daily rendezvous. In reaching the Longboat Key, a perfect beach for perfect shells we drove over several bridges where we passed through two keyboards of fishing poles, played by a solid line of fishermen and their ladies. Through a 10-mile stretch of excellent highway, lined with tall whispering pines, we were on the sands that crunched like ice. What a colorful array of shells on the white beach.

Bathers are pleased with Lido Beach; truckmen are interested with cement shells at rocky Siesta Key. We are anticipating more color and surprise along the beaches in Tampa area.

VETERANS' CONTINGENT

Men To Be Selected For The CCC During The Period From April 1 to April 20

Announcement has been made by the manager of the Veterans' Administration, Togus, that he has been authorized to select veterans for the veterans' contingent of the Civilian Conservation Corps. The enrollment of these men will take place during the period April 1 to April 20.

Applications cannot be considered in those cases of veterans whose discharges from the Civilian Conservation Corps were not honorable, who were discharged within six months, or who are now employed. Eligible veterans seeking enrollment cannot be enrolled in other than the State of their permanent residence.

Veterans interested in being enrolled in the Civilian Conservation Corps may obtain proper application blanks by writing to the Manager, Veterans Administration Facility, Togus, Maine.

A Baseball Quiz

10. What pitcher hurled against the pick of the Portland Twp League in 1934 for a team of Knox County League players, losing only because a double play in the late innings missed fire?

Answer to Question No. 9: St. George and Bucksport were the amateur teams which played a 17-inning game in which neither made an error.

The answer to Question No. 10 will appear in Saturday's issue.

"The Black Cat"

By The Roving Reporter

A kind but unknown correspondent, sends me an Arabian fig, which came from Tucson, Arizona. In crossing the desert the native Arabs never fail to carry a bag of these figs, which are eaten after being moistened. It is said that Arabian figs provide a balanced meal—better than peanuts, dates or beans. The Army lives on them for days in the desert. With this interesting souvenir was a water color painting of a Spanish mission. The donor was inspired to send the fig by reading in The Black Cat column that Rev. Corwin H. Olds had presented me with some pinon nuts from New Mexico. Let the good work go on. I am vastly intrigued—and pleased.

One of my embarrassments in conducting this column is to print a cat picture which will please everybody. Comments made to me would indicate that the cartoons fip more favor, in the ratio of about three to one, especially those made from drawings made by Mr. Pellett. The publishers of the paper, on the contrary, favor the Veazie feline, which will now be used until the cat is exhausted. In this connection I yesterday received a letter from Mrs. C. M. Maker of 182 Russell street, Worcester, Mass., who says:

"Your Black Cat column is of interest to me, because I read so many things in it that I know about. It is the first column I read when my paper comes. I do not care for the color of the Black Cat, but I hope if you are going to use one you will publish the picture of Mayor Veazie's cat. It is more pleasant to look at on the first page of The Courier-Gazette. I hope The Black Cat column will continue."

Mrs. Maker's letter voices what seems to be a very general request and I shall try to grant it until the Roving Reporter again hears the call of the road.

Secretary of State Robie tells the Associated Press that drunken driving has increased very nearly 100 percent in Maine since the repeal of prohibition. Did any sane person suppose it could be otherwise?

The Courier-Gazette is represented by five members of this year's graduating class at Rockland High School. They are: Gordon, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Richardson, Robert, son of Oliver F. Hills; Richard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil S. Perry; Ralph, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper E. Rawley; and Winifred, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dimick.

Funny things we see: A dog riding in a baby carriage, and the baby hoofing it.

The high automobile license numbers are coming in. Yesterday Ephraim Gordon saw Maine 149,300.

"I think there ought to be something in the column about my cat 'Duco' says Mrs. Wallace M. Little of Broadway. And she rightfully thinks so because 'Duco,' an even dozen years of age, scoops milk out of a dish something like a person, and eats from his paws.

Probably some local electrician can promptly answer a question which has been passed on to me, namely: "What was the first house in Rockland to be equipped with concealed wiring?"

Have you an eye for levels? If so do you always find pictures hanging just even in the houses you visit?

Places I miss: Healey's bowling alley, where I spent most of my spare moments (and some of my employer's) soaking the elusive candlepin and playing billiards at a proper "no count" with such experts as "Chummy" Gray, Prof. D. W. Clark and Earl Barron. I believe I held the alley record for candlepins a short time on 138. This would not be impressive nowadays, but in my time the pins were not too good, and the balls were somewhat inclined to be three-cornered.

Lord, now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace. Luke 11: 29.

The Garden Club

Members Listen To Timely Talks By Mrs. Jameson and Mrs. Beverage

The Rockland Garden Club presented a program of unusual interest at the meeting Tuesday afternoon at Community Building. The president, Mrs. Louise Orbeton, presided, and Mrs. Mary Avery officiated as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Blodgett. The speakers of the afternoon were Mrs. Laura Jameson of Waldoboro and Mrs. Nina Beverage of Augusta.

Mrs. Clara Thurston, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Jameson who gave a delightful discourse on "Moths and Butterflies." The speaker became interested in this subject at the early age of eight when she adopted it as a hobby, later developing her knowledge of entomology in serious study.

Beginning with "moths" Mrs. Jameson told of the different stages, the first being the eggs, which are laid the last of May or first of June. The second stage is the caterpillar larvae, which feeds on the leaves and is red-orange and brown in color. The cocoon is the third stage, and is eventually covered with this spinning material, which hardens and is waterproof. The last and most thrilling is the adult stage, when the wings begin to expand and the moth is able to fly in an hour's time.

Mrs. Jameson had on exhibition several cases of mounted specimens, the largest being the "Cecropia," of a brown-orange-gray color combination with white marks and the delicate green "Luna" with rose and white markings. Other specimens shown included dragon flies with their transparent wings, grasshoppers, beetles of many varieties, lava, chrysalis, etc.

"Many have difficulty in telling the moth from the butterfly," said Mrs. Jameson, "but you will find, after a little study, that moths have round furry bodies, while the butterfly is slender and smooth." The butterfly is much the same as the moth, in the process of development, the third stage, the chrysalis, showing a wonderful combination of color, being bright green with gold spots. The largest butterfly exhibited was the "Monarch" or "Milk Weed" butterfly. Beautiful blended colors of red, gray, orange, black and yellow with white or rose markings were noticed on the specimens shown.

Both moths and butterflies are easily raised in captivity. They are caught in a net, and chloroformed in a glass jar, care being taken when they are removed to the collection case that the wings are untouched, as the disturbing of position on the wings will cause them to flake. Specimens are used in many decorative ways and in trays or frames, with a background of colored grasses, milkweed, pressed ferns, or everlasting flowers, are very attractive. Mrs. Jameson's interesting and instructive talk closed with a humorous poem entitled "The Entomologist."

Mrs. Nina Beverage spoke on "A Nature Study Department in Your Garden Club," telling of the success of the Augusta Club in that respect. There is a vast amount of interesting study in the subjects of "stars" and "clouds." Mrs. Beverage said "There is really no limit in the study of nature, the rocks, woods, mosses, streams and the very air we breathe providing exhaustive material." An open forum was held at the close of her talk, with an informal exchange of questions and answers which was enjoyed.

Mrs. Edith Blaney gave an excellent report of the Flower Show held in Boston, saying it was the best exhibit in several years. Although a riot of color in places, the trend of the pure white garden was noticeable. A large bed of white tulips was striking in appearance and a display of 5000 lilies was one of the attractions. Beautiful combinations were formed with pale yellow tulips, pink, lavender and rose hyacinths, and butterfly bushes ranging from pale rose to dark purple.

A stage arrangement of a Berkshire mountain scene, with hills in the background, a brook, log cabins and a shelter, with unusual lighting effects was very realistic and well designed. A formal garden on one side contained immense hyacinths and was further enhanced by a fountain of colored water made possible by a lighting system. All fences, trellises and frames were painted white a pleasing contrast to the blossoms and greens. On an outside balcony in the main hall a clever miniature garden of very small flowers, such as grape hyacinths, sweet alyssum, etc., was fascinating. A careful planning of built-up backgrounds was noticed, set off by Grecian sculpture.

The Rose Garden was a gorgeous display of yellow rose bushes, a bird-of-paradise plant and white and pink dog-wood trees. There were double pink snapdragons of almost unbelievable size, parrot tulips, rose with yellow centers, and dwarf marigolds. Carnations were used almost wholly for table decoration. An interesting garden of herbs was seen, featuring the samphire herb, which is very rare. An attractive exhibition of many birds added the final touch to a wonderful display. At the close of Mrs. Blaney's report several pictures of the Flower Show were passed through the audience.

Hall On The Job

Former Local Newspaper Man Enters On Duties As State Librarian

Oliver L. Hall of Hampden, former private secretary to Governor Lewis O. Barrows, and former Rockland newspaper man, received hundreds of congratulatory letters and telegrams Tuesday as he officially assumed his new duties as state librarian.

As Hall concluded his duties in the chief executive's office, Barrows said he had not selected a new private secretary and did not indicate who would be his choice.

Hall was appointed to his new post by Education Commissioner Bertram E. Packard, who has supervision of the state library, to succeed Dr. Henry E. Dunnack of Augusta who died recently. Dunnack occupied the position for nearly 25 years.

The fitness of the Hall appointment has impressed everybody familiar with the nature of the office, and those who know of the new librarian's educational advantages. Rockland citizens who knew Mr. Hall so well during his early life, and who have followed his highly successful newspaper career will join heartily in the congratulations.

Decline Of Horses

Is Noted On The Farms of Maine—Tractors Named As Cause

A "steady" decrease of farm horses in Maine since 1914, the State Department of Agriculture said Tuesday, continued last year with a drop of 1,000 from the previous year's total of 50,000.

The value of farm horses also declined slightly in 1937, according to the department, which said the average value at the end of last year was $156 a head, compared to $159 the preceding year.

"The decline in horses on our farms," marketing chief Charles M. White said, "is due to the increased use of the tractor and the automobile."

A total of 236,000 head of cattle on farms at the end of last year, the department said, represented an increase of 2,000 over the number recorded at the close of 1936.

"Milk production on Maine farms in 1937," the department said, "was estimated at 644 million pounds, compared to 626 million pounds in 1936."

"During 1937 there was no change in the number of cows milked, although milk production per cow increased considerably over the previous year. The wholesale price of milk averaged $2 per 100 the same as in 1936."

The Star Alleys

Charlie (I made a spare years ago) Lawry is about to plunge into the bowling picture, according to Manager Gerald Clark of Champion Gardner's staff. Old timers claim that Mr. Lawry throws the fastest ball around these parts and will make his big attempt on April Fool's day.

That match was being kept secret, but through mysterious channels and other sources, Money Bags discovered the plot.

Good luck to Charlie, but a little bird tells me he needs a warmup match before taking on the great Gardner.

S. A. R.
It was reported in Tuesday's issue that Sea View Garage team defeated the Shell Oilers, which was incorrect. The Shells did not bowl the match being played by a "pick-up" team, against Sea View Garage.

Farm and Home Week attendance at the University of Maine last year was 1,804, the largest on record since this annual event was first held in 1907.

What About Pay Day?

National Grange Asks Pertinent Question About Social Security

During the first 14 months after the launching of the Social Security program of the Federal government, the sum of $1,600,000,000 was collected from employers and workers throughout the country. Taxes levied on payrolls to provide for old age and unemployment insurance yielded that sum.

During the period indicated, the Treasury paid out less than $100,000,000 to those insured under the plan. This means that more than $1,500,000,000 collected on payrolls still remains in the Treasury or was disbursed in meeting current expenses.

In spending this money for present needs, the government has relieved the necessity of borrowing as much money as formerly. In other words, the cash that has been entrusted to the government for safe keeping is put to work, while those who paid in the money receive due credit for the sums on deposit, plus interest.

Exclusive of the railroad retirement act, the old age insurance system that has been established does not start to pay annuities until 1942. Even then payments will be on a small scale. When the time comes for the government to pay back the money that has thus been hypothecated, it would seem that the real pinch will begin to be felt.—From the National Grange Clip Sheet.

HOTEL PROPRIETOR DIES

Daniel Walsh, 39, of Nashua, N. H., proprietor of a hotel in Christmas Cove, was found dead of a heart attack Tuesday in a Boston Back Bay apartment where he had lived this winter. A physician summoned by his widow and the medical examiner agreed death was due to a heart affliction.

A Forced Landing

Adriel U. Bird and S. L. Bickford Have a Narrow Escape

Five persons missed death or serious injury Tuesday because of the skill of Charles Cowan, Boston transport pilot.
With his four passengers, Cowan circled Roosevelt Field, New York, and was about to land his twin motored plane. George McCauley, radio man at the field, noticed one wheel of the retractable landing gear had failed to descend from its nest. He radioed Cowan, advising him to make a "skid" landing on the grass at nearby Mitchell Field.
With two ambulances and two fire trucks lined up on the runway, adjoining the grass field, Cowan brought the plane down at high speed on the one wheel which worked.
The craft sped smoothly for 2000 feet, then scraped along for 100 feet, demolishing both propellers and ripping out the bottom of the fuselage and the landing-gear before stopping.
Unhurt and jubilant at their escape, the passengers were S. L. Bickford, New York restaurant owner, Dr. Clayton Gunderson of New York, Edward Humphrey of Boston, and Adriel U. Bird of Rockland.
The plane had come from Boston. News of the mishap reached Rockland by radio early Tuesday afternoon, and there was considerable anxiety as to the safety of Mr. Bird and the other passengers until further word was received.

The executive board members of the Garden Club Federation of Maine, with Mrs. Harrie B. Coe of Portland as president meets Friday in Damariscotta the meeting to be at the Baptist Church beginning at 10.30. The Old Bristol Garden Club of Damariscotta will be the hostess club. National Wildlife Restoration and Conservation will be the outstanding topic of the discussion at the morning meeting, also horticulture, roadside development, legislation, senior and junior nature work. Luncheon will be at 1 o'clock and at 2.30 o'clock the federated clubs in the Medomak district will meet to organize and elect district officers. This district, the first in the Maine Federation to organize includes: Belfast Garden Club, Camden Garden Club, Rockland Garden Club, Mount Bexton Nature Club of Rockland, Thomaston Garden Club, Boothbay Region Garden Club, and the Old Bristol Garden Club. Mrs. E. Stewart Orbeton of West Rockport, Maine representative of the New England Gourd Society, will speak on gourds. Mrs. Orbeton is president of the Rockland Garden Club and director of the Medomak district.

HOLLYWOOD STAR-LITES

By Ronald Coleman

Hollywood — (Exclusive) — Hollywood at its best is seldom printed or told. This is the other side of the film capital, which is kept silent for fear of bad publicity.

Robert Taylor, who suffered from grandpa-on-relief stories, pays out $3000 a month to relatives he didn't know existed before he reached stardom. Charles Butterworth even supports 11 relatives in the east.

Joan Crawford keeps two beds in a Hollywood hospital all the time for any down and out person who needs medical care and can't afford it. She even pays for the services of the finest doctors. But doesn't want it known. But we think it deserves mentioning. Please forgive us, Joan!

Myrna Loy recently spent $5000 trying to save the life of her hairdresser's sister and never said a word about it to anyone. Edgar Bergen, Charlie McCarthy's mouthpiece, hands out to old time vaudeville pals.

Marion Davies sponsors one of the largest and finest children clinics in the world right here in Hollywood. Miss Davies even gives large Christmas parties for poor families.

All difficulties having been settled between Warner (Charlie Chan) Oland and his studio, the star will resume work on his next vehicle, "Charlie Chan on the Clipper Ship." Under the next contract after his recent nervous breakdown, Oland will have Keye Luke as his son as usual.

It's being said that Marlene Dietrich may sport a new film contract shortly, but it is the opinion of this writer that the price of the star's salary will be well under her previous $450,000 per picture. She was recently offered $100,000.

"Mad About Music," starring Deanna Durbin with Herbert Marshall is just as good as its predecessors. It will certainly please everyone. The highspot of the opus is when Deanna sings "Ave Maria." The story is about the daughter of a famous American screen star who wants a father. A Three Star-Lite picture.

Feature length cartoon films are just coming into their own in this film city. Walt Disney started the craze when he risked a cool million and a half dollars to make the first full-length cartoon, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

It has been estimated now that this picture will break the record for being the biggest money-maker of all time, topping the former record held by "The Big Parade."

Disney has already started production on a second feature length cartoon taken from the story "Pinocchio," a famous Italian tale of a woodcarver whose figures come to life. The music recording work is finished and the animating has just been started. His third feature is in the scenario department. It is called "Bambi," a story of the life of a deer.

Other cartoon firms have announced intentions of making feature length pictures, according to all reports.

Lionel Barrymore, sensational top-notch star of the last year, has been cast in one of the choice roles of the year in the picture version of "You Can't Take It With You." He will play Grandpa Martin Vanlorhof in the opus.

Word comes that M-G-M will now

Lose Bad Breath—Keep Your Friends

In spite of all that has been written about bad breath, thousands still lose friends through this unpleasant fault. Yet sour stomach with its resultant bad breath is frequently only the result of constipation. Just as it can also cause loss of appetite, early weakness, nervousness, mental dullness.

So keep regular. And if you need to assist Nature, use Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. This gentle laxative can help bring relief. Extremely important, too, is the mild stimulation it gives the flow of bile from the liver, without the discomfort of drastic, irritating drugs. That's why millions are sold yearly. All druggists, 15¢, 30¢, 60¢.

At the STRAND Friday and Saturday

"SALLY, IRENE AND MARY"

PARK THEATRE

FRIDAY-SATURDAY

Yakima Canutt and Bob Livingston in the Republic Picture "Heart of the Rockies" star Robert Taylor in a Western thriller and you needn't be surprised even if Cary Grant goes cowboy in a picture.

Everyone tells me these days that William Powell is a very lonely person—ever since the death of Jean Harlow.

Hollywood studio film stylists tell me that the accent will be on femininity for the spring. That means that those mannish suits, slacks, etc., will be taboo and that everything will be very feminine.

Royer, 20th Century-Fox stylist, tells me that flounces will be all the go. For an evening dress for Simone Simon in "Jolette," he has chosen color grey, which promises to become one of the leading shades for youthful evening wear.

The bodice follows the fitted line popular with full skirts. Diamond shaped neckline, with very brief skillfully draped sleeves. Very modern, however, is the scarf treatment worn at the neck, two long wide ends of net, and clipped together at the base of the throat with a long pin of rhinestones. A knee-length wrap of chalk-white taffeta casually loose and with square wide sleeves, tuxedo revers embroidered in wide diagonal stripes of silver and a similar treatment at the edge of the sleeves is one of the popular evening wraps for spring.

APPLETON RIDGE

Ruth Moody returned to Union last Thursday after being at her home here for a few days.

Mrs. Eleanor Pitman has been confined to her home for the past few days with a cold.

Johnson R. Pitman who is ill is being attended by Dr. Irving Tuttle of Union.

High school closed Friday for a week's vacation. All schools will re-open Monday.

Mrs. W. M. Newbert, Lucy Moody and Laurence Moody were in Rockland recently.

Basketball Teams Honored
Twenty invited guests attended the banquet for the girls' and boys' basketball teams last Thursday at Community hall.

The hall was attractively decorated in the school colors, red and white. The same color scheme was carried out in the decoration of the tables. Covers were laid for 30 guests but due to the bad traveling, the guest speakers were unable to be present.

Rev. Harold Nutter was toastmaster. Benjamin Mitchell and Paul Gushue, co-captains of the boys team, also Ida Williams, captain of the girls team spoke. Members of both squads told how much they had enjoyed this first year of basketball even though they had won but few games. Coach Darroch spoke of the accomplishments of this year.

Principal Darroch was presented with a beautifully decorated cake as a token of appreciation for his untiring efforts in coaching both teams.

Guests were Rev. and Mrs. Nutter, Coach Darroch, Miss Maud Fuller, Natalie Mink, Margaret Aldus, Jennie Zachowski, Gertrude Ripley, Ida Williams, Doris Hustus, Benjamin Mitchell, Paul Gushue, Robert Griffin, William McIntosh, Warren Moody, Keith Mink, Freeman Gushue, Donald Calderwood, Philip Keene.

The credit for the success of this banquet is given to Mrs. Elizabeth Newbert. Her assistants were: Lucy Moody, Linnibel Sprowl, Beatrice Hustus and Olive Gushue.

The Appleton Community Club had as guest speaker, Frank A. Winslow of Rockland at its last meeting. His subject was "Flirting with Fame." Everyone who was present enjoyed his lecture. Refreshments were served by Daniel McIntosh, Laurence Moody, Carleton Gushue and Johnson Pitman.

HOPE

The Hilltop Juniors 4-H Club held a judging contest on muffins recently at the home of the leader Mrs. Mabel Wright. The meeting was conducted by the County Club Agent Miss Lucinda Rich. Miss Plummer, the State Assistant leader, was guest and led the club in singing club songs. Sandwiches, cake and cocoa were served. The subject of the next meeting will be "Scrap Books."

The Farm Bureau met Tuesday at the Grange hall. The session was conducted by Miss Esther Dunham, home demonstration agent and the subject "School Lunches." The Grange Circle met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Alice True. Willard Brown has had a telephone installed in his home.

THE PRESS

[For The Courier-Gazette]
Can't you number the days that we fulfill?
Or the Couriers that we bring forth?
The soldiers may forget his sword
The sailor man the sea.
The Mason may forget the word
And the priest his litany;
But the Jew shall forget Jerusalem
Ere we forget the Press!

Who once has stood through the evaded hour
Ere roaring like the gale,
The harried and the hoe devour
As the war horse snelleth the battle afar,
The gutted soul no less
He saith, "Ha, ha!" where the trumpets are
And the thunder of the Press.

Luckless Skippers

They Take the Count and They Hear the Dreaded Swan Songs

Skipper's Bowling Song
Tune, Sailor's Hornpipe
"We're a bowling team that's simply called the Skippers
As we skip from C to C we wave our fingers
At that flock of crazy geese, that are skipper than grease
And are known throughout the town as cheerful gypsters."

"Oh, we roll 'em down the alley in a hurry
And those goofy Ganders we delight to bury.
We hitch our score sheet to a star,
From these Ganders whale the tar,
And when they pay they're mad,—oh, very, very."

Although the Skippers entered the Cascade Alleys last Monday evening singing the above ditty in luster and gusto sailor man fashion, thinking that they were going to "take over" the Ganders where they left off last week, they snuck out the back door after the match like a crowd of whipped school boys for they got the shock of their lives when they were forced to take a bitter dose of defeat just when things looked the rosier.

For the Skippers walked away with the first string by 14 pins and apparently Goose was well cooked, but in the second string a hurricane or sumpin' blew up and the Skippers blew up with it for they dropped to the ridiculous total of 412 and away went their bowling match several miles to leeward. The Ganders copped this second string by 46 pins and it was enough for although the Skippers made an extra attempt to get them back and won the third canto by two pins the Ganders still had a 30 pin advantage.

It was a very mad voyage for Skipper Skip Arey. It was the first time in history that Gene Hall beat him, and the first time that Skipper Skip had ever visited the south. He threatens to take a trip south for a little training, and in spite of all efforts to console him will not eat nor sleep. Les Dyer came out head man for the evening, while Shields took second and the old Goose third. It was rather a tough evening for Der Captain Grimes for although he did not have to pay for his bowling he did have to dig for the cigars to pay off Br'er Peterson and the P. M. And then he was serenaded by the other members of his team known professionally as the "Ganders Quartet" they not wishing to be outdone vocally by any aggregation of seafaring men. With all due apologies to authors, composers, and members of the Grimes family, they escorted him in triumph to the door to the close harmony of the following—

Ganders "Swan" Song, tune, Auld Lang Syne.
Old Grimes is dead, that good old man
He's dead and buried deep
He came down street to bowl one night,
A walking in his sleep.

Old Grimes is dead that grand old man,
"The Captain" of our team,
The Skippers buried him at sea,
Three points abaft the beam.

They buried him ten fathoms deep
He'd never been before,
He did not like it there, so he Got up and walked ashore.

Old Grimes is dead, that swell old guy,
But cheer up, do not frown,
His actions prove to all the world
You can't keep a good man down.

Mr. and Mrs. James Troup and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henderson went Tuesday to Boston where Mr. Troup and Mr. Henderson attended a paving cutters' conference.

St. George Reunion

The committee for the St. George Reunion has planned a much later date this year than last, setting April 23, for the night of the dinner. This should enable many St. George residents to attend. The roads, undoubtedly, will be in good condition and as the reunion is Saturday that gives everyone ample time to return home for business Monday.

Almost every resident of St. George has relatives living in and around Boston who would be delighted to extend hospitality to their Maine cousins over a weekend, enabling all concerned to attend the dinner.

Last year it was held in January on one of the most perfect nights of the winter, but of course one can never be sure of good weather or good roads at that time of year.

April bestows more favors. One member of the committee, while talking to an old Harbortite said every effort was being made to provide a good dinner and the voice on the other end of the phone said, "Well, that's nice, people like to eat, but I'd willingly pay the price of the dinner just to talk to some of those folks I haven't seen for 30 years."

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 2 pints a day or about 2 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

TOWN MEETINGS

NEWCASTLE

Appropriations for town purposes amounted to $27,000. The article calling for the adoption of the modified Australian ballot was enthusiastically killed. Officers elected were: Moderator, William L. Flye; clerk, Emma F. Wade; selectmen, assessors and overseers of the poor, Roswell G. Hodgkins, Joseph O. Hodgkins and Clarence M. Hunt; treasurer, Robert K. Tukey; collector, Frank M. Decker, school board for three years, Arthur D. Stetson.

DAMARISCOTTA

Although the Supreme Court ruled a year ago that Damariscotta must pay $4500 a year for hydrant rental, it was voted at the annual town meeting Monday to pay only $2800.

Francis C. Roberts was re-elected selectman, by a large majority. Joseph F. Chapman had no opposition for second, but two ballots were necessary to elect Joseph Stetson as third. Clarence A. Richards was moderator for the 28th term. Collis Merrill was elected clerk; Clyde Strong to the school board for three years and the collector and treasurer is William T. Dartnell.

Appropriations for town purposes amount to $30,000. It was voted to take all the money coming to town workers to pay their taxes if necessary. Substantial reduction was shown in the town debt. It was lowered from $23,000 to less than $19,000.

NOBLEBORO

The total raised for town purposes was a little more than $13,000.

It was voted to unite with the selectmen of Newcastle to find a sale for the surplus of alewives. The total receipts for the alewives owned jointly by Nobleboro and Newcastle were $2000 last year, but the net receipts were for $331. Better offers than last year have already been made.

The town report shows that $335 worth of sheep were killed by dogs last year and paid for by the State. The dog tax for the year amounted to $60.

Officers elected were Alfred B. Chaput, moderator; Delia M. Hale, Linwood W. Palmer and Samuel W. Hancock, selectmen, overseers of the poor and fish committee; Mrs. Ruth G. French, clerk; Leola C. Hancock, treasurer and collector; Merton Burns, board of education for three years; George W. Oliver, Howard Cunningham and Frank Witham, road commissioners.

SOUTH CHINA

Mr. and Mrs. William Ring and son Roger of Warren and Lloyd Fitzgerald and family of Augusta road were recent guests of their parents, the Herbert Esancys.

Erskine Academy teachers and students were visitors Wednesday at China Grange. The sophomore class repeated the play "Rooting for Ruth" and other students gave the remainder of the program: Song, "O Promise Me," Madeline True, Florence Delaware, Patricia Ellis and Marie McLehlan accompanied by Jesse Darling with harmonica and banjo; recitations by Florence Delaware, Madeline Marsh, Erlene Crocker and Verna Mitchell; also a skit "Packing the Lunch Box" by three home economics girls and violin duets by George Smith and Charles Richards.

The Parent-Teacher Association met with the Branch Mills members last Thursday night at Community House.

Miss Ida Elwin formerly proprietress of "The Gables" tourist home here and brother Everett of Somerville Mass., were dinner guests Saturday of Mrs. Alice Esancy.

Mr. and Mrs. Ardelle Bumps and daughter Joyce passed the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Esancy.

Other guests Sunday were Mrs. Esancy's mother, Mrs. Eleanor Payson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Payson of Camden and Mr. and Mrs. William C. Wellman of South Hope.

Recent company at Ralph Esancy's include Mrs. Harry Merrill of Windsor, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Merrill, daughters Sylvia and Holly and niece Alice Giddings of Vassalboro and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Small of Augusta.

Mrs. Bessie Hunnewell is caring for an accident patient in Waterville for a few weeks.

Town Clerk Fifty Years

Town meeting was conducted as usual in a quiet, approved way, the only debates being over advancing town road wages, raising money for music in the schools and the advisability of a new consolidated school building in the center of the town.

Willis W. Washburn was chosen town clerk for the 50th consecutive year, having also served at various times before 1888. Other officers re-elected were H. L. Fuller, G. W. Jones and Delmont Gerry, selectmen; B. H. Reed, tax collector and treasurer, and Fred Plaisted, school committee.

Do This If You're NERVOUS

Don't take chances on harmful opiates and products which you know nothing about. Use common sense. Get more fresh air, more sleep and take a reliable, time-proven medicine like famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—made especially for women from whole- some herbs and roots—let it help Nature tone up your system and thus calm jangled nerves, lessen distress from female functional disorders and make life worth living.

For over 60 years one woman has told another how to go "smiling thru" with Pinkham's Compound—let it help YOU.

ROCKPORT

Mrs. Mabel Withee has re-opened her home after staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Crosby in Camden for the winter.

Mrs. Frank Priest was hostess Saturday night to a group of friends. Three tables of bridge were in play at her home on Pleasant street, with honors going to Mrs. Marion Richards, Mrs. Nina Carroll and Mrs. Leona Salisbury. Others present were: Mrs. Hattie Spear, Mrs. Hildred Rider, Mrs. Nellie Staples, Mrs. Lina Joyce, Mrs. Marion Ingraham, Mrs. Louise Holbrook, Mrs. Edith Buzzell and Miss Helen Small. Late lunch was served.

Mrs. Charles A. Cavanaugh has returned from a month's visit with relatives at North Easton, Mass.

Preceding the mid-week service tonight at the Baptist Church there will be a 15-minute prayer period beginning at 6:45 to which all members are invited. At the 7 o'clock service the pastor, Rev. J. W. Hyssong will lead in a study of the third Chapter of Colossians.

Mrs. Hattie Spear has returned from New York city where she spent two weeks as guest of Miss Gertrude Smith.

Mrs. Edna Robbins, who spent the winter in Washington, D. C., has returned, and resumed her duties Monday at the office of Z. M. Dwinall in Camden.

The officers of the Young People's Society Christian Endeavor will meet Friday at 7 o'clock at the Baptist vestry for an important session.

Miss Harriet Cavanaugh has returned from Connecticut where she spent a month as guest of friends.

Mrs. Beulah Blakely is able to be out again following an illness of two months' duration.

The annual business meeting of the Twentieth Century Club will be held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edith Buzzell. Reports will be read and officers elected. This will be the last meeting before the spring and summer recess.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Crockett, Miss Bernice Nutt and Keith Crockett were entertained Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Crockett.

High School Minstrels

An audience which nearly filled the Town Hall Monday night witnessed the minstrel show staged by the High School and all agreed that it was one of the best performances of that type seen in town for several years.

Seated on the stage when the curtain was raised were 30 High School students, and the interlocutor, Prin. Clayton E. Smith of the Grammar School, who opened the program with chorus singing of many of the popular songs. Then appeared the six end men, Melville Welt, Vere Crockett, Roland Crockett, Ernest Crockett, Erskine York, and L. True Spear Sr. and from that time on to the finish of the performance things moved with a snap not often seen in amateur performances.

The jokes were well carried and appreciated and each soloist was recalled for a second or third number.

Those singing solos were: Ernest Crockett, "I Still Love to Kiss You Good Night," Beatrice Lane, "I Double Dare You," Elizabeth Lane, "Did Your Mother Come from Ireland?" Gladys Noyes, "Blue Hawaii," Melville Welt, "Ten Pretty Girls," Vera Easton, "Everybody's Doin' It," Arlene Tominski, "Thanks for the Memories," Vere Crockett, "The Love Bug Will Get You," Donald Welt, "Gold Mine in the Sky," Roland Crockett, "He Walked Right In," L. True Spear, "The Road to Mandalay." A vocal duet "Honolulu Moon" was sung by Vera Easton and Donald Welt; Keith Crockett played a saxophone solo "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles"; Maurice Carleton, harmonica solo; Vere Crockett, trombone solo and "Old Black Joe," banjo solo while Erskine York gave several tap dance numbers which received bursts of applause.

Mrs. Esther Rogers accompanied the various numbers on the piano. Dancing followed, music being furnished by David Crockett, Jr., Camden, drums, Otis Dean, Camden, saxophone; Ernest Johnson, Rockland, piano.

Happy Childhood Days

The Brownies met Monday at the home of their leader, Mrs. D. Preston Wyson, where games out-of-door were enjoyed. Weather permitting a hare and hound chase will be held at next week's meeting. The Brownies Club is divided into sixes. Each month one of the sixes put on an entertainment. "The Canary Six" is now rehearsing for a play to be given the first of April, under the direction of Phyllis Dean. Katherine Hobbs is the Sixer, or leader, of the Canary Six, and Caroline Groton, the second, or assistant. The name of this play is "Goldilocks and the Three Bears."

A new six was formed at this meeting, consisting of boys, with Henry Bickford Jr. as Sixer; and James Proctor as Second. The Six was named "The American Flag" and their colors are red, white and blue. The new members are: Carleton Apollonio, Allen Hatch, Emerson McCobb, Lorenzo Sparta, Stanley Wheeler, Cedric Joyce, Joseph Alleg, and "Bill" Foxwell.

This week's meeting was under the leadership of Carl Piper Jr. a member of the Boy Scouts, who took the lads on a hike.

Garden Club Entertained

Mrs. Pearl G. Willey, president of the Garden Club, entertained Tuesday afternoon a representative group enjoying an instructive and pleasant afternoon. Mrs. Willey and Mrs. A. E. Greenlaw gave a report on the Spring Flower Show held in Boston last week which both attended.

The guest speaker was Thomas MacDonald of Belfast who spoke on "Flowers and Foliage in Wild and Cultivated State in South Africa." Mr. MacDonald, a civil engineer who has spent a great deal of time in that country proved that he was well acquainted with his subject. He told of the customs of the natives, the general conditions and the many developments in the native tribes and governing bodies. While they were being civilized to a certain extent they were allowed to live along with their native customs and in their own villages, separated from the white people. He explained that they were in many cases servants to the white folks but not slaves.

A question hour followed and Mr. MacDonald explained many questions asked by club members. The hostess served refreshments and a social hour followed.

This week is Wild Life Restoration week and the club is co-operating with the county committee which is headed by Dr. Walter Conley with F. E. Morrow as chairman of the local committee and has wild life stamps on sale. Many persons are assisting by buying these stamps for the specimen pictures of wild life and many others are using the stamps on all outgoing mail.

Camden High School Notes

Junior prize speaking try-outs will be held Monday, at 3.30 in the assembly room. This contest has become an annual event for the juniors and is considered extremely worth while, as it provides an opportunity for the class to earn money for graduation and also to show their ability in speaking.

The dancing class was held Friday night on account of the tournament in Lewiston in which this school participated. Many pupils are taking advantage of this opportunity to learn ballroom dancing. Every student who is able, should attend. It is not too late to start.

Camden High's song team, Nash and Blackington, sang popular song hits last Thursday at Odd Fellows hall. Later they sang in the show, "We're on the Air."

MERCHANT MARINE PROBLEMS

As Interestingly Set Forth By Capt. John Brown In Letters 21 Years Apart

Presented in this issue are two communications relative to the United States Merchant Marine—one written to Capt. John Brown, retired shipmaster of Thomaston, in 1917, and one written this week, confirming, as he sees it, the prophecies which he made in letter No. 1. Here is the correspondence.

Capt. Brown's First Letter

Thomaston, 1917.

This country is now confronted with many problems, including upbuilding of the merchant marine, that has gradually dwindled from a great fleet to its present size. If we ask the reason, the answer is, legislation. From time to time Congress has passed laws that discourage investment and make it difficult to operate and compete with foreign tonnage that are governed by liberal laws and consequently discourage investment to build tonnage under the American flag.

Before the present European war this country at large did not realize we did not have or ever needed a merchant marine. Legislation has been introduced in Congress to increase it at different times, but always turned down. There is no reason why this country should not possess and operate the largest fleet in the world, but investors in shipping have for some time realized that Congress cannot be relied upon for framing laws that will insure profitable investment under normal conditions for any length of time, as for instance with the outbreak of the war, and with few ships to carry our products, congress passed the free ship bill, that foreign tonnage could be admitted to American registry. On the face of it Congress passed the Seaman's Bill; the two acts are comparable with the old saying of the cow that gave a good mess of milk and voluntarily kicked it over.

The Seaman's Bill is instrumental in discouraging investment, and prohibits from operating under normal conditions in competition with foreign tonnage. Subsidizing American built tonnage is the only sure and reliable remedy for upbuilding the merchant marine in the near future. We have the material and labor that European countries will to some extent be deprived of after peace is declared. Shipyards will spring up in a short time when the American investor is assured of liberal laws and safe investments. It has been the prevailing opinion in this country, and argued in Congress, that the shipping interests would be the only parties benefited by it; but now the country realizes that the whole nation would be benefited directly or indirectly if we had the tonnage to carry our own products to foreign markets and establish export trade.

A board of practical men, relieved from all political influence should govern and regulate the merchant marine, that from time to time could change laws if required to operate successfully in competition with foreign tonnage. Present shipping laws are acted on by a body that has no practical knowledge of the merchant marine or laws that would increase tonnage under the American flag.

Foreign tonnage has been admitted under the new law to American registry. The question that now arises, will they return to foreign flags after peace is declared where they can operate cheaper, and shipping laws are more liberal. The seaman's bill will give the merchant marine endless amount of trouble, create desertion, no discipline, vessels liable to be left in home or foreign ports where seamen are not obtainable, perhaps left in open roadsteads without crew to operate them, at the mercy of the elements. Seamen will often desert when they can claim the wages as under the present law.

There is a large amount of tonnage now building in American yards, but mostly for foreign interests, which would perhaps not have been the case if the American investor was sure of liberal laws that could not be changed in a short time by political influence.

The present prosperity in shipping is only artificial and created by the European war; as soon as peace is declared, and freight rates return to normal figures, special inducement must be offered American investment to upbuild the much reduced merchant marine.

Subsidies have built foreign fleets, and no doubt the only remedy for this country, and should be supported by all parties wishing to increase the merchant marine for commercial as well as government purposes, and would relieve the country from any complication that may arise, if government-owned ships should be seized by a belligerent nation.

If the shipping bill becomes law private interest will cease to invest in tonnage, as they will not be sure of competing with government-owned ships. If government-owned ships are not operated on paying basis the whole country will be the loser, and not directly felt by the individual, which is not the case with private interest.

Government-built ships will be slow in progress, as Congress will from time to time appropriate funds with more or less hesitation as conditions change, and may again be confronted with the same problem—short of ships. Supply and demand will no doubt regulate ocean freight rates in competition with foreign tonnage it would be folly for this country with its small merchant marine to try to regulate freight rates to govern the world.

Special attention should be given to auxiliary in sailing vessels: some of the neutral European countries are now building such vessels for the American, West Indies and South American trade. They are operated very economically as they don't come under the regular steamship rules in regard to deck and engine departments.

The nation needs the merchant marine; it is in the hands of the lawmakers, let them do their duty and the country will not be lacking for ships to carry our products, and the navy will be supplied with necessary ships when needed. We cannot build them in a day or month, but commence now.

Keep the flag on the ocean; repeal the Seaman's Bill; that is of no special value to the seaman, but in many ways a detriment to the upbuilding of the merchant marine. Subsidize American built tonnage; release the ties that make it difficult to operate, and we will in the near future see the American merchant marine grow and carry the flag on all the oceans; but as long as it is tied with drastic laws and governed by a body that has no practical knowledge of the merchant marine and its workings (it is comparable with a ship that is put to sea with non-experienced crew and will surely meet with disaster) and it will always remain in its infancy.

Capt. Brown Says Today

Thomaston, March 21.

The above article the writer produced in 1917 after the Seaman's Bill had passed Congress. In many respects it applies to conditions prevailing today, and many of the writer's predictions have materialized, to his deep disappointment.

The Wagner Labor Relation Act has been instrumental in putting the last straw on the back of our much distressed merchant marine. Private interests have almost ceased to invest in shipping governed by the most drastic laws of any nation in the world. Prevailing laws and labor trouble offers no encouragement for the upbuilding of our much needed merchant marine by private interest.

The morale of shipwrecks in 1919, when the writer left the sea was about as troublesome as the ordinary stomach could digest, but no comparison whatever as to what is taking place on shipboard at the present time, according to available reports, disorder, drunkenness, the loss and burning of ships, the gross discard of discipline and morale, has consequently induced the sailing of American tourists on foreign ships where law and order do prevail.

Part of the steamship Algic crew convicted in Baltimore for mutiny received a sentence of two months in jail, while a few got off with $50 fine. Ten years in prison is the maximum penalty as written on the statute books. Joseph P. Kennedy when chairman of the Maritime Commission described the affair as scandalous. The demoralizing actions engineered by unscrupulous crews have been greatly encouraged by legislation.

Foreign Nations may now feel highly elated; the U. S. A. is their choice feeding ground. They have for years in the past used every available influence through legislation in this country to discourage investment in shipping under the American flag.

Our Government is offering some inducement to private interest, through joint operation. Private capital could under normal conditions, and with the prospect of safe investment, build as many ships as are required, but under the discouraging conditions prevailing here will hesitate to invest in tonnage that would invite endless amount of care and trouble. Our Government is handicapped with a heavy national debt, and has with the prospect of building a larger navy, to feed and care for the Nation's unemployed. Its hands are tied and the much needed merchant marine is left out in the cold.

Building a great Navy without a fleet of fast supply ships would be on the principal of building battleships without guns. Our Government is advocating building a large Navy for defense only. They may be overlooking the fact that our possessions in the Pacific Ocean cover a vast area, which we at any time may be called on to protect. Without the proper amount of fast supply ships our Navy would be greatly handicapped.

Ex-President Theodore Roosevelt, when in office, sent the Navy around Cape Horn from the Pacific coast in 1908, with many of the supply ships under foreign flags. During the World War England carried 69% of our soldiers across the ocean, and we would have been further handicapped providing the large German passenger ships which we took over had not been available for transports.

Providing the unsettled worldwide conditions now prevailing should bring about hostilities, and our nation should become involved, foreign supply ships would not be available, for they would be supplying their own navies. These are some of the deplorable conditions which the politicians have brought about, and for which the foreign maritime nations have been praying, that they might kill the fattest calf, i. e. to supply ships for our import and export trade.

The Wagner Labor Relation Act passed under New Deal pressure has brought about a multitude of strikes and much discontent; is also responsible for many millions of workers losing jobs and wages throughout all the land, which in turn have contributed in a major part to the present severe New Deal Depression with about thirty millions (unemployed and dependents) depending on welfare, and have adequate to all of this nation's revenue building a Merchant Marine, adequate to all of this nation's requirements and welfare in peace and war.

Labor is the Nation's wealth producer and should be properly protected, but not to the extent that will jeopardize to the danger point the welfare and prosperity of this great nation.

Under Heavy Bonds

Scott and Boynton Charged With Attempted Kidnaping, Await Trial April 20

Forrester Scott, Philadelphia lawyer, and Stanley Boynton of Springfield, Mass., yesterday were bound over for trial in the Supreme Court at Nassau, Bahamas, on charges of attempting to kidnap Scott's two small daughters from his divorced wife and fly them back to the United States. Quarterly sessions of the high court begin April 20.

Judge Osborne Bancroft of Magistrate's Court said the pair would be released on bail of $5000 pounds ($25,000) if two sureties furnished bonds for that amount.

Scott's former wife, now Mrs. Harry Clark Boden, testified at yesterday's hearing that Scott had been given parttime custody of the children by a Pennsylvania court. She admitted the same court had issued a warrant for her arrest on contempt charges for taking the youngsters outside its jurisdiction (without permission). Mrs. Boden said the older child, Eva, 6, became nervous every time Scott visited her and after a medical examination, the child's physician advised the father to discontinue the visits.

Scott, who did not testify, had paid a 20 pound ($100) fine earlier following his conviction for carrying an unlicensed revolver.

He was given a suspended sentence on a charge of assaulting Miss Helen Smith of Wilmington, Del., the children's nurse.

Scott had contended, and the prosecution admitted that he had merely pushed Miss Smith when she sought to prevent the children from being taken.

LOVE-LORN SNIPE DANCE BY NIGHT

By "Ding" Darling

The crime of excessive drainage hit this all-American bird, Wilson's snipe or "jacksnipe," terribly hard.

There isn't a section of the United States, from Alaska to Florida, where there is bogland that the jacksnipe doesn't visit. It breeds from right up close to the arctic circle through a wide belt of country down into New Jersey, then spends its winters over an expanse of territory that makes in Southern California, and the southernmost part of Brazil.

With its swift, weaving flight and its plaintive cry of "Scap, scap," it takes winter's jacksnipe is the familiar spirit of the lowlands, the damp pasture, the muddy shore of lake and stream.

The jacksnipe comes and goes mysteriously on its migration journeys. The farmer finds a colony of snipe busy probing in his meadow on an October morning where he has never before seen a snipe, and as abruptly, they're all gone.

"Crazy birds," the old marshmen used to call them; some days they'd be tame and trusting, other days wild and wary. In the spring the jacksnipe does a mating song and dance act in the air, at night mostly, and when you've heard the performance you've been right close to the spirit of the marsh. Woodcock have a similar mating exhibition. In fact, woodcock and snipe have a lot in common, in appearance and habits, except that snipe keep to open country and woodcock haunt the brushy bogs.

Jacksnipe have sadly decreased in the past quarter century due to the craze for changing marshes which once yielded profitable crops of fur, fowl and fish into sour, unproductive farm lands on which the new crops were never able to pay the drainage bonds.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A more bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25c. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

TENANT'S HARBOR DAYS

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:— I was reading Kipling's "Kim" and he, The Holy One and Beze were hiking on the Grand Trunk road in Hindustan when we heard music in the distance.

"Hark!" said the Holy One, "One beats a drum far off!"

"Ah, the music!" Kim explained. He knew the sound of a regimental band. Then the wind brought the tune:

"We crave your condescension To tell you what we know Of marching in the Mulligan Guards

To Sligo Port below. We shouldered arms. We marched—we marched away From Phoenix Park. We marched to Dublin Bay. The drums and the fife Oh, sweetly they did play As we marched, marched, marched with the Mulligan Guards."

I left my companions and went to Centennial Hall, Tenant's Harbor, where there was a show going on, local talent, and then entered the Mulligan Guards, left, marched onto the stage and sang:

"Our captain's name was Hussey A Tipperary man; He handled his sword like a Russian duke

Whenever he took command. We shouldered arms. We marched, we marched away From Baxter street. We marched to Avenue A. The drums and the fife So sweetly they did play

As we marched, marched, marched with the Mulligan Guards."

Then the Guards marched off, right, went back of the stage; came on again left, and sang the second verse. That must have been fully 60 years ago. The Mulligan Guards were Ellis Haskell, William Haskell, Bliss Long, John Tracy and Linton Snow; and were drilled probably by Sgt. Charles Glidden, the Civil War veteran of the village who always trained the boys when they put on a military show.

Then I went back and joined my companions on the Grand Trunk road, Hindustan, and I watched the Mavericks, Kim's father's old regiment go into camp.

Said Father Victor, the Catholic chaplain, "Kimball O'Hara; I saw his father married to Annie Shott." To Kim, "What's your name?"

"Kim."

"What else?"

"Kim Rishitke. Why Rishit? Eye-rishit, that was my father's regiment."

"Irish, oh! I see."
